CPP plans sale, microchip clinic

by Wilda Lyons / Coalition for Pet Protection Jan 27, 2017 Updated Feb 1, 2017

Mark your calendars for two great February animal events.

The Coalition for Pet Protection will be at the Petsmart located at 2801 Pine Lake Road next weekend on Sunday, Feb. 12. Hours will be from noon to 2 p.m. There will be items for sale, such as our popular car charms and pet bandannas for that special four-legged valentine. There will be special pricing for the day.

CPP will also be hosting a microchip clinic Saturday, Feb. 18. The Coalition always has the health and safety of animals as a top priority. This event will be in a clean, secure facility, and the procedure will be done by a licensed, trained veterinarian. The chip clinic will be at Parkview Animal Hospital, 3201 S. Tenth St., from 9 a.m. 9 to noon.

Chips will be only $25, and for each chip purchased, the owner's name will go into a drawing for a $25 Petsmart gift card.

Cash only, no reservations are needed. Lifetime registration will be handled at the time, and is included in the price. There will also be extra goodies for those attending. For more information, call the hotline at (402) 434-7922.

The Coalition for Pet Protection, founded in 1992, is a local animal welfare organization. Donations are used locally and are tax-deductible.

CPP is a 501(c)(3) organization whose mission is to provide financial assistance for feline medical care. There is also an animal food pantry, and resource assistance available.
